Hello, Stroud Council,

If additional housing is required, we support a hybrid solution of options A (intensify housing within urban extension sites) & C (additional growth points)

These new growth points at Whitminster and Moreton Valence / Hardwicke are far more sustainable in terms of employment potential and infrastructure than the one proposed at Sharpness. Living near Berkeley, Sharpness is one of my main recreation areas for cycling and walking. The green views extending down and across to the River Severn are magical and need preserving.

We do not support the approach of identifying a reserve site or sites in case allocated sites do not come forward. Instead the council should be reviewing the whole Local Plan in the light of the significant potential new sites and evidence that has belatedly emerged since the original proposals.
